The Seventh Son, Superb Vitagraph Life Portrayal Featuring Abraham

It is said that Abraham Lincoln's wisdom justice and mercy never reached a grander and more eloquent climax than in the great feature spec-tacle at the Breed today, entitled The Seventh Son. At the outbreak of the civil war the six sons of Widow Beecham enlist, while the seventh son is yery anxious to join his brothers, but they insist that he remain at home with the ared mother. At the battle of Bull Run three of the brothers are killed, and now the seventh son goes to the front, leaving the mother at to the front, leaving the mother at home atone. He distinguishes himself at the Bairle of the Whilderness, but his nerves are shattered and he flees for home in terror. He is brought up on the charge of desertion and sentenced to death. Secretary of War Stanton refuses to recommend his pardon, so the mother calls on Lincoln personally. With tears, she pleuds for her hast and only boy, the hope and love of her old age. The cell lady anxiously awaits his decision, and is about to leave his presence when the president calls her decision, and is about to leave his presence when the president calls her back and hands her the boy's pardon, saying: "You have given six sens for your country, now I will give you the

A feature extraordinary in the moving picture line is being shown here today and tomorrow. It is a brand new reel, and the story was constructed as well as acted by the new famous Dorothy Gibson, the original Harrison Pisher girl, who with her mother was anyel from the til fated Tranic. This reed shows as a nearly as possible has to saved from the ill fated Thante. This is real shows as nearly as possible just the way the big visual was wrocked and the excitement, etc., which followed the terrible crash. Everything is depicted in detail founded on Miss Gibson's own experiences. This film is making activity in the motion picture market, and is demanded by managers of picture houses all over the country. of picture houses all over the country. A vivid picture of the wreck of this big ship will be thrown on the Audipicture screen today and ton addition to this exira feature there will be other films shown as well as three high-class vaudeville numbers.

POLI'S BROADWAY THEATER.

Today's programme of motion picder, Drama of Yesterday, Breach of Promise, Retribution, and is guaran-teed by the management to be the most recently released motion picture programme in town today. Souing is be-lieving. The Caser Brothers will ap-pear in their feature antiphonal sing-ing act, and itell and Hall, who are making the hit of the season, will appear for the last time in their hig scream act. Prices 5 and 10 cents.

The Bass-Clef Concert.

The Ross-Clef concert on Friday night is to be a concert that everybody will understand and appreciate. Every ther on the programme will be in English, the programme will the text of all the part somes, and have the text of all the part somes, and this will be a concert that all lovers of music will heartily enjoy.

Mr. Werrenrath sings a number by Arshur Sullivan, the distinguished English composer, and later a group of songs ending with the widely known. Dangy Denver, by Dumrosch. This is one of Mr. Werrenrath's best American songs, and his singing of this number is nothing short of thrilling. Miss Tudot, besides being heard in two selo numbers, will appear with the club in an arrangement of a Hungarian Folk. Song which will prove very effective. Both soloists and chorus will be heard in the closing number, a scene heard in the closing number, a scene from Tunnhauser, in which the Pilarims' Chant is sung by the club. This is by far the most ambitious work that the club has undertaken and will show the remarkable advance which the club has made since its first appearance.

The public sale of seals for the concert begins this morning. The associate members of the club are allowed to reserve seals before the public sale begins. Already a very large number of seats have been taken and the single geat sale expected will undoubtedly annex was largely filled.

THE GRAY STREETS OF LONDON.

The gray streets of London are grayer than the stone than the stone—
The gray strents of London, where I must want my lone;
The stony city pavements are hard to
trest, alas;
My heart and feet are aching for the irlin grass.

Far down the winding bereen the grass is like with.

The wind is sweet as honey, the hedges white as milk.

Gray dust and grayer houses are here, and skies like brass.

The lark is singing, souring o'er the lrish grass.

The gray atreets of London stretch out a thousand mile—
O dreary wails and windows, and never a song or smile!
Heavy with money getting, the and gray people pass,
There's gold in drifts and shallows in the Irish grass.

God built the pleasant mountains and bleasant the fertile plain;
But in this and gray London, God knows I so in pain.
O brown as any amber, and clear as any glass,
The atreaus my heart heurs calling from the Irish grass.

The gray streets of London, they are paved with gold:
I'd rather tave the cowsilps that two small hands could hold.
I'd give the yellow money the foolish folk amass.
For the dew that's gray as silver on the irish grass.

I think that I'll be going before I die of grief:
The wind from over the mountains will give my heart relief.
The cuckoo's calling aweetly—calling in dreams, alms!
"Come home, come home, acushis, to the Irish grass."
—Katharine Tynan, in McClure's Magazine.

THE LITTLE FLOWERS. The world is young today;
Fengal the gods are old.
Forget the years of gold
When all the months were May.

A little flower of Love
Is ours, without a root.
Without the end of fruit,
Tet—take the scent thereof.

There may be hope above! There may be rest beneath: We see them not, but Death Is palpable—and Love. —D. W. Dolhen.

Fashion is powerful, but it is also sensitive. A few days ago the borothy bag was carried by thousands of somen and girls in London. Today few are to be seen, for the suffragettes have given the bag its death blow. Countess Eugenia Hildegards von Boss, who is devoting her time and personal fortune to the spread of the universal peace movement, both here and abroad, is a member of the eld. German family of Boss zu Wildeck. According to a German contemporary there are at present about seven thousand cabs in Berlin, of which about two thousand, or 28 1-2 per cent, are mechanically driven, 18 these about 14 per cent, are operated electrically.

Professor Keith, in a London lecture on the evolution of man, said that the resemblance of the prehistoric mon-keys found in the Fayum in apper Egypt to South American menkeys inlicated the common origin of the arthropoids of the old and new world. The commerce of the Copenhager free port is increasing each year, due to its up-to-date leading and discharg-ing facilities, its low raics, electric light and power plants, rold corrages, water supply works, ratiroads, light-houses and wireless telegraph stations.
